IntoUniversity

Welcome from our CEO Dr Rachel Carr

Dr Rachel Carr
Chief Executive Officer
& Co-Founder

My name is Rachel Carr and I am one of the founders of IntoUniversity and its current CEO.

We're an award-winning charity that runs local learning centres in the heart of communities where the young people we support live. Our centres provide an innovative education programme which includes practical learning support and motivational and confidence-building activities for children and young people aged 7-18. Our aim is to inspire students from the least advantaged neighbourhoods to broaden their horizons and achieve their full potential.

As the UK's leading university access organisation, our staff team is helping thousands of young people each year. We have thirty-nine centres and extension projects across England and Scotland, with ambitious plans to scale-up our provision further over the coming years.

We are looking for people who will thrive in a fast-paced, rewarding role helping to change the lives of young people by taking up permanent roles as Education Workers on IntoUniversity's Graduate Scheme. We believe that our Graduate Scheme is one of the most exciting in the charity sector, providing exceptional training and experience, and the opportunity to work with young people and colleagues who will challenge and inspire you.

As a charity with social mobility as its core objective, IntoUniversity is wholly committed to equality of opportunity. We work with children and young people from a diverse range of backgrounds, and we believe that our staff team should be similarly diverse and representative.

The more inclusive we are, the better our work will be, and we recognise that we have much more to do in this regard. We are committed to building a culture where students, staff and volunteers are valued for the unique people they are. We therefore encourage applications from candidates from as wide a range as possible of ethnic, cultural and social backgrounds. In particular, we actively and warmly welcome applications from Black, Asian and minority ethnic candidates, male candidates and candidates with a disability as they are currently under-represented within IntoUniversity.

If you believe that all young people deserve the chance to develop their talents regardless of their background and want to play a part in helping them succeed, then we would be delighted to hear from you.

Thank you very much for your interest and I look forward to receiving your application.

What to expect on the Graduate scheme

How does the Graduate Scheme work?

Our Graduate Scheme is a two-year career-development programme and we ask candidates to commit to staying with the charity for at least this duration.

After completing your first year of the scheme there will be the opportunity to take on a new challenge and apply for a promotion to Senior Education Worker.

Once you've completed the two year scheme, you're guaranteed a position with us - our Graduate Scheme roles are permanent jobs.

As we're an expanding organisation, new job roles and further promotions are regularly available for those who stay beyond their initial two years.

What training will I receive?

You will take part in a training programme in spring 2023 as part of the Graduate Scheme.

Some of this training will take place with other graduates in London, so you'll get to know them really well whilst you learn everything you need to prepare you for working in an IntoUniversity centre.

Support with accommodation and travel costs will be provided.

Throughout the graduate scheme you will also take part in our Leadership Exploration and Development Programme (LEaD), where you will receive further training on how to set and achieve meaningful goals for personal and professional growth, as well as further examining our values and your role in the wider organisation and having the opportunity to consider and develop your own leadership profile.

There will be additional learning opportunities in the form of virtual in-house training or face-to-face learning opportunities and team meetings at other IntoUniversity centres near your own or in London where our Head Office team is based.

What could my day look like?

The Education Worker role is a fast-paced and rewarding role where no two weeks will look the same.

A typical day will have different activities, possibly spread between the IntoUniversity centre, partner schools and the offices of a corporate partner.

In the morning, you might be setting off with resources to run a workshop for sixth form students in their secondary school. In the afternoon you may be setting up the classroom ahead of running Primary Academic Support for young people in your IntoUniversity centre. On other days, you may be travelling to a corporate partner to run a business simulation workshop for Year 10 students, or leading a group of Year 6 students on a campus visit for their graduation.

As an Education Worker, you'll always be delivering the programme as part of a larger team, which means that any delivery is always a team effort.

You can read lots more about our graduate scheme on our website here, including an example of a week in the life on an Education Worker.

Can I have a sneak peak?

Yes, you can!

Please check out this video of our centre in Brent. You can also do a virtual tour of our Haringey centre.
